Your Royal Highness,

The Bryan Habana Foundation is a charity organisation that has at its core to develop children from disadvantaged circumstances both in Cape Town, South and London, United Kingdom through my initiative called, Team Habana. Team Habana develops the next generation of young leaders through the values of rugby which I have found pertinent throughout my career as a professional rugby player. Team Habana increases young people's confidence and competence in a range of leadership behaviours for them to fully discover their leadership potential. This provides them with the tools to 'give back' 100 hours of volunteering in their communities by delivering or implementing their own leadership ideas

We are supporting the candidature of CEMIN due to the fact that South African professionals form part thereof. As an organisation that focuses on the well-being of children we agree with the general principle, that the best interest of the children should prevail, is paramount to our society.

Kind Regards

Bryan Habana
